

“Letter to the Ikegami Brothers”

“Kyōdai-shō”

April 1276 (Age 55)

Because in our past lifetimes we harbored grudges against and hindered practitioners of the true Law, we should fall into a terrible hell in future lifetimes for these offenses. However, it also teaches that the benefit of practicing the true Law is so immense that when we now take faith in it, great future sufferings are drawn into our present life, and their severity is lessened and experienced as minor sufferings.

(Gosho p.981 / Selected Gosho Passages p.225)

Nichiren Shoshu Myosenji

“Letter to the Ikegami Brothers”

“Kyōdai-shō”

April 1276 (Age 55)

Because in our past lifetimes we harbored grudges against and hindered practitioners of the true Law, we should fall into a terrible hell in future lifetimes for these offenses. However, it also teaches that the benefit of practicing the true Law is so immense that when we now take faith in it, great future sufferings are drawn into our present life, and their severity is lessened and experienced as minor sufferings.

(Gosho p.981 / Selected Gosho Passages p.225)

Nichiren Shoshu Myosenji