

“Reply to Soya”
“Soya dono-gohenji”

August 2, 1276 (Age 55)

Trying to attain enlightenment without admonishing slander of the Law is like seeking water in fire or fire in water. How useless! No matter how earnestly one upholds faith in the Lotus Sutra, a single act of slander will cause one to fall into hell without fail. It is like a single crab leg, which can ruin a thousand pots of lacquer. This is what is meant by, “The poison has penetrated deeply, causing them to lose their true mind.”

(Gosho p. 1040 / Selected Gosho Passages p. 194)

Nichiren Shoshu Myosenji

“Reply to Soya”
“Soya dono-gohenji”

August 2, 1276 (Age 55)

Trying to attain enlightenment without admonishing slander of the Law is like seeking water in fire or fire in water. How useless! No matter how earnestly one upholds faith in the Lotus Sutra, a single act of slander will cause one to fall into hell without fail. It is like a single crab leg, which can ruin a thousand pots of lacquer. This is what is meant by, “The poison has penetrated deeply, causing them to lose their true mind.”

(Gosho p. 1040 / Selected Gosho Passages p. 194)

Nichiren Shoshu Myosenji