It is extremely rare to be born a human being. The chances can be likened to the amount of soil that one can place on a fingernail. Furthermore, it is difficult to maintain one's life, which is as transient as morning dew on grass. It is more important to live with honor for even a single day, than to live for 120 years, but die in disgrace. You must live your life so that the people of Kamakura will sing your praise that Nakatsukasa Saburo saemon-no-jo is positively attentive and diligent in serving his lord, in his service of Buddhism, and in his concern for those in society. Be mindful of this. The treasures of the body are superior to the treasures of the storehouse. And the treasures of the heart are superior to those of the body and are the most valuable. After you read this letter, you must strive to amass the treasures of the heart.
